An unmarked envelope tucked into my keyboard (hey, it's not a letter rack! show respect!). And in it: VIP passes to a certain cellphone service provider's music fest.

Wonder Woman FTW!

Head of the line AND riding in the golf carts, baby. Wear your sunglasses so the Common People will think you're somebody's drummer.

RLY.

You know what one of the nicest phrases in the language is?

"All Access."

Wonder Woman sez we have to pay her back in cookies.

she can have all my cookies forever and ever.

All Access FTW.

A VIP lounge is always a plus, usually its nice and air conditioned, and has munchies. This is the Virgin Mobile event, right? Should be a great time.

I might even let you borrow it sometimes. That is, if I were to happen to have one.

Oh, she's not so bad. That space alien in the cape has turned her head, is all.

When I decided to be born in February, I must not have realized I'd own a motorcycle. Winter storms play hell with...

She is not called Wonder Woman because she looks good in a tiara. Okay, she also looks good in a tiara. I bet.

So help me, I read that as "Cellophane Provider." Luckily, I had breakers put in, so I didn't need to go into the darkest recesses of my subconscious to replace the fuse. With a wobbly flashlight.

That and a pocket comb, and we could have a kazoo band.

Wobbly flashlights make very poor replacements for fuses, even in an emergency.

This important safety tip brought to you by someone who's seen people fired for improper fuse replacement. (Fortunately, I've only seen people fired, not fried.)

If my keyboard is going to sub for a letter rack, at least it's a worthy letter.
